

Frequently Asked Questions

What level of English do I need?

Lessons are designed for intermediate and advanced learners. Students should already have a basic foundation in English.

What happens in a lesson?

Lessons are conversation-focused and adapted to the student's goals. Sessions may include discussion, vocabulary development, pronunciation work, and correction.

Do you help with writing?

Yes. I can help with specific skills required for written work such as in academic writing (essays, creative writing, etc) and professional communication (emails, reports, etc). Written activities can be included in the planned lessons. I can also set homework, if desired, and provide feedback as necessary.

What platform do you use for lessons?

Lessons are always conducted online. Tools such as Google Classroom or other platforms may be used depending on what works best for the student. I am open to suggestions and try to accommodate students' needs as much as possible.

Do you teach beginners?

My lessons are designed for learners who already have some experience with English and want to improve fluency, clarity, and confidence.

Can I book a trial lesson?

Yes. A first lesson allows us to discuss your goals and see whether my teaching approach suits your needs.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any other questions not covered here.